

THEORY TO PRACTICE OF URBAN FOREST MANAGEMENT

Yale Forest Forum is the events hub of the Forest School at the Yale School of the Environment

SPRING 2022 SPEAKER SERIES

Co-convened by the Hixon Center for Urban Ecology and the Urban Resources Initiative

January 20th

Principles of Urban Forestry

Dr. Sharon Jean-Philippe
University of Tennessee

February 3RD

Estimating Carbon Storage in the City

Dr. Mark Bradford
Yale School of the Environment

February 17th

Silviculture in the City

Dr. Max Piana
USDA Forest Service

March 3rd

Putting Urban Forest Theory Into Practice: Tree Risk, Pests, and Storms

Jennifer Greenfeld
NYC Parks

March 17th

Modelling Ecosystem Services of Trees in Cities

Dr. David Nowak
USDA Forest Service

April 7th

Atlanta's South River Forest: A Consideration of Affordable Housing

Dr. Cassandra Johnson Gaither
USDA Forest Service

January 27th

Urban Forest Mensuration, Information Systems, and Decision Support

Dr. Dexter Locke
USDA Forest Service

February 10th

Climate Change & Urban Forest Policy & Action - International Perspectives

Dr. Cecil Konijnendijk
University of British Columbia

February 24th

Stand Dynamics and Diversity Patterns in Planted and Naturally Regenerating Urban Forests

Dr. Danica Doroski
Connecticut's Department of Energy and Environmental Protection

March 10th

Urban Forests Planning for Future Climate Change Scenarios

Dr. Joe McBride
UC Berkeley

March 31st

The Inequity of Climate Impacts and Access to Nature-Based Solutions in New York City

Dr. Timon McPhearson
The New School

April 14th

Optimizing Ecosystem Service Provisioning Through Tree Planting Strategies that Account for Community Health and Demographics

Dr. Mayra Rodríguez González
University of Vermont